Corp. Dowling, who is slim in build, of medium height and of a wide-awake appearance, pleaded not guilty to the formal charges, which are under three heads: First, that while he was a prisoner of war in Germany he joined a hostile force; second, that he endeavored to induce others to join; third, that he participated in an attempt to land a hostile force in Ireland.

CORP. RICHARD ROSE DIES OF BATTLE WOUNDS

Members of Family in Washington Notified of His Death

Word has been received by his relatives in Washington of the death from third, that he participated in an attempt to land a hostile force in Ireland.

Sir Archibald Bodkin, the prosecutor, described at great length the German piot launched at the end of 1914 for the formation of an 'Irish brigade' from among the Irish taken prisoner on the British front. The scheme, Sir Archibald said, was repudiated by most of the prisoners, but Dowling and a few others joined the brigade and acted as recruiting agents.

The prosecutor described the means used by the Germans to induce Irishmen to join, and in particular the German promises to them, reading:

"At the end of the war the German government undertakes to send every member of the Irish brigade to the United States."

Reads German Document.

Sir Archibald Bodkin read a long document issued by the Germans at Limburg camp which said: "The Irish in America are collecting money for this brigade. Join the new unit and win your independence. The Irish brigade is to fight solely for the cause of Irish and with the moral and material assistance of the German government."

The story told by Prosecutor Bodkin of the arrival of Corp. Dowling in Ireland follows:

"On April 12 fishermen going out from a harbor on the Clare coast saw a man waving a handkerchief on an island half a mile from shore. He said he had been washed ashore from the torpeded ship Mississippi during the night. He palt the fishermen five shillings to land him at Ballyaline Pier, where he gave his name as James O'Brien, described the torpedoing of the Mississippi with great detail, stating that the ship came from Baltimore. Later in the day his collapsible boat of undoubted German manufacture was washed ashore. Dowling the American Army."

Got Only Fifty-Three Recruits.

Prosecutor Bodkin in his address described the German method of dealing with Irish prisoners.

"Those who joined the Irish brigade," he said, "were allowed distinctive uniforms, special rations and side arms, and mingled freely with the German officers and men. Those who stuck to their caths of allegiance were treated shamefully, their rations were reduced and every effort was made to punish them for their conduct. Yet fifty-three was the total number of recruits the Germans secured after a long campaign among the Irish prisoners.

"The feeling against Dowling was very strong among the loyal prisoners, and on one occasion he was handled so roughly that German sentries had to come to his assistance."

The prosecutor declared the whole story told by Dowling regarding the circumstances of his landing and the purpose of his visit was untrue, as Dowling later admitted.

"He was brought to London," continued the prosecutor, "and detained at the Tower, where his brother visited him. He told his brother that he came in a submarine. If he skould now try to explain that he came in the character of an escaped prisoner, our answer is that escaped war prisoners are not provided with passage in German submarines."

King Cuts Out Shirts for Tommies to Wear

e of the Associate LONDON, June 28 .- Fifty Britak soldiers soon will be wearing shirts cut by their king. King George and Queen Mary recently visited several clothing factories in the London district soldiers. In one of the plants solders. In one of the plants the king became interested in the cutting process and accepted an invitation to try his hand. An electric cutter was given him and within a few seconds shirt lengths on a pile of material fifty thicknesses deep were severed, the finnel them being transferred to other machines which finished the detail werk of cutting out.
